PROPOSED PROJECT NAME:

Our Heroes, Our Inspirations

PROJECT DESCRIPTION / SUMMARY

The "Our Heroes, Our Inspirations" project seeks to provide opportunities for the students to engage into collaborative learning task which will require them to research national and local personalities in their country. Students will have to review and to find out the individuals who can be considered "HEROES" in a given classification. Heroes are deceased or alive individuals who have made great impact into the students' life. They are the men and women who contributed and/or have contributed various development projects/works in any of the areas' history, science, arts industry, public service, family life and literatures among others.

Heroes from each country will then be classified into these categorisations:

- A. National Heroes
- B. Local Heroes and Day-to-day Heroes.

Students will gather information about such heroes, discuss and comment on the persons' lives, and create and share expository, literary texts and multimedia outputs in tribute for such heroes through MIXXT network.

RATIONALE FOR THE PROJECT:

Heroes are not just TRUE in science-fiction novels and films. They actually come alive in our regions across continents. Those are the heroes that are taught in schools and mostly those, somewhere out there, extraordinary men and women waiting to be hailed and sung. Old and young, professionals or non-professionals, whatever they may be, can become true heroes. This is the thrust of this project. The youth needs someone to look up to or to identify with. The works, courage and passion manifested or continually showed by individuals in various fields or in some ways or another are more than enough source of INSPIRATIONS for them. Through sharing of information, opinions and creative works about these heroes, the youth will sustain the commitment to make the best of everything, everything there is to know about becoming true heroes for all beyond time and space.
